

Social studies -- It's the law!

Read about the New Deal Acts that resulted from the Great Depression. Then, in pairs, investigate the causes and effects of one piece of legislation, both in the 1930s and today (passed since 2008). As you research the legislation, consider both the advantages and disadvantages of government intervention. Make sure you include the effects each piece of legislation has had on society. Each pair will present their findings to the class.
